Players scratch off the play areas of Jackpot Party, Gold Fish and Zeus II instant games to reveal familiar symbols from these popular slots games. The Company is the first to use holographic play symbols under an instant game scratch-off coating, adding a dynamic and exciting play experience for both instant and casino players as they scratch to win big.

Scientific Games currently leads the industry in mobile and web solutions for lotteries. The Company delivered more distinct mobile and web-based projects to lottery organizations than all competitors combined, managing diverse regulatory environments, player sophistication, third-party system integrations and multiple languages. At the core of Scientific Games' interactive focus are bonusing and rewards solutions. More than 600 solutions have been delivered to more than 40 lotteries around the world, ranging from single game second-chance promotions to full-line loyalty and bonusing programs. Scientific Games has also delivered iLottery solutions to more than 13 World Lottery Association members, beginning with Lotto Bayern (Germany) in 2001 and most recently with North Dakota Lottery (U.S.) in 2014. Where permitted by law, the Company's mobile and web iLottery solution is an exceptional opportunity for channel extension. Central to all of the Company's interactive solutions is its lottery mobile app that is currently deployed with nine U.S. lotteries with two more soon to be released. Scientific Games embraces "mobile first" and our many deployments are a testimony to this in action.
