

Scientific Games Expands OpenGaming Studio Portfolio with Global Launch of Everi Content

Scientific Games' OpenGaming solution will make Everi's interactive content available to operators in New Jersey and Pennsylvania in 2019, Europe and Canada in 2020

LAS VEGAS – Nov 18, 2019 – Scientific Games Corporation (NASDAQ: SGMS) (“Scientific Games” or the “Company”) and Everi Holdings Inc. (NYSE: EVRI) have partnered to launch iGaming in New Jersey, Europe and Canada.

Scientific Games' OpenGaming solution will make Everi's interactive content library available to operators via the Open Gaming System™ (“OGS”) content aggregation platform. The initial launch of Everi's content library focuses on North America in 2019, with a debut in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. In 2020, the companies will look to expand the relationship to include launches in Europe and Canada.

Dylan Slaney, SVP Casino for SG Digital, said, “We're thrilled to partner with Everi and bring their games to these iGaming markets. We look forward to using our reliable and dynamic platform to support third party content. Our OGS platform has proven successful in launching iGaming content, and we look forward to continuing this success as we bring Everi's engaging content to new markets.”

David Lucchese, EVP and Interactive Business Leader, at Everi, said, “iGaming continues to grow by the day, and we're always looking for new ways to reach our players with our extensive content portfolio that includes high-performing video titles and best-in-class, award-winning mechanical games. Partnering with Scientific Games and using their OGS platform puts our games front and center – making them readily available to the industry's top operators.”
